Business Background

Business Background: Studio J is a B2C marketing and advertising agency specializing in growing revenue and ROI for global, product-led, companies in the fashion industry. Their advertising and marketing data is used to measure campaign efficiency to grow revenue and increase ROI for their clients.

The Challenge: Studio J has seen revenue growth of 50% YoY, but they are looking to grow exponentially from 2M to 8M in revenue by December 31, 2026 (300% increase YOY). To accomplish this, Studio J is looking to grow their fashion clientele. By identifying their most profitable campaign patterns for their largest client, Nykaa Fashion, they can build the the blueprint for clientele and revenue growth.

KPIs: KPIs for Nykaa Fashion are listed on the right. These are the business health KPIs, but this dashboard will also measure campaign specific KPIs such as conversions, leads, and impressions.

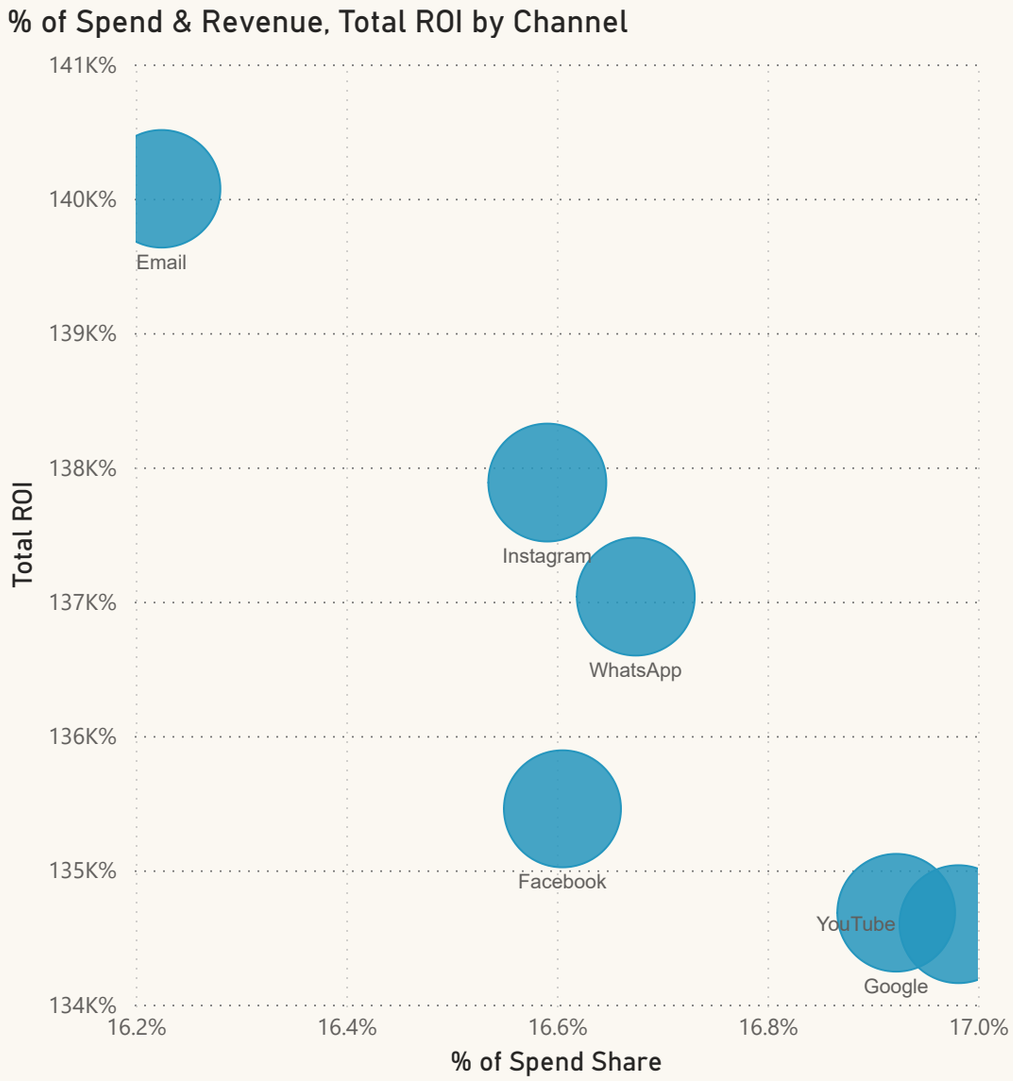
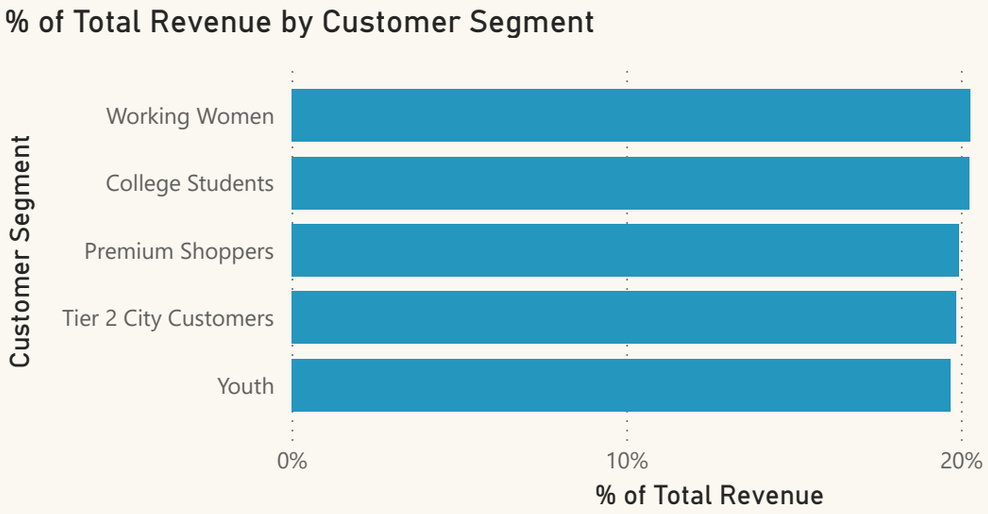
Channel Analysis by Customer Segment





Insights

- Revenue is balanced across all five customer segments which suggest a stable business model with no over-reliance on a specific demographic.
- Overall, email drives the highest ROI at 140K% with the lowest percent of spend, suggesting it should be the primary channel focus for campaign expansion.
- Email performs subpar among college students with a 3.44% of spend and 134K% compared to Instagram with a 3.18% of spend and a 140K% ROI. Instagram, Google and WhatsApp should be the main channels to reach this target audience.

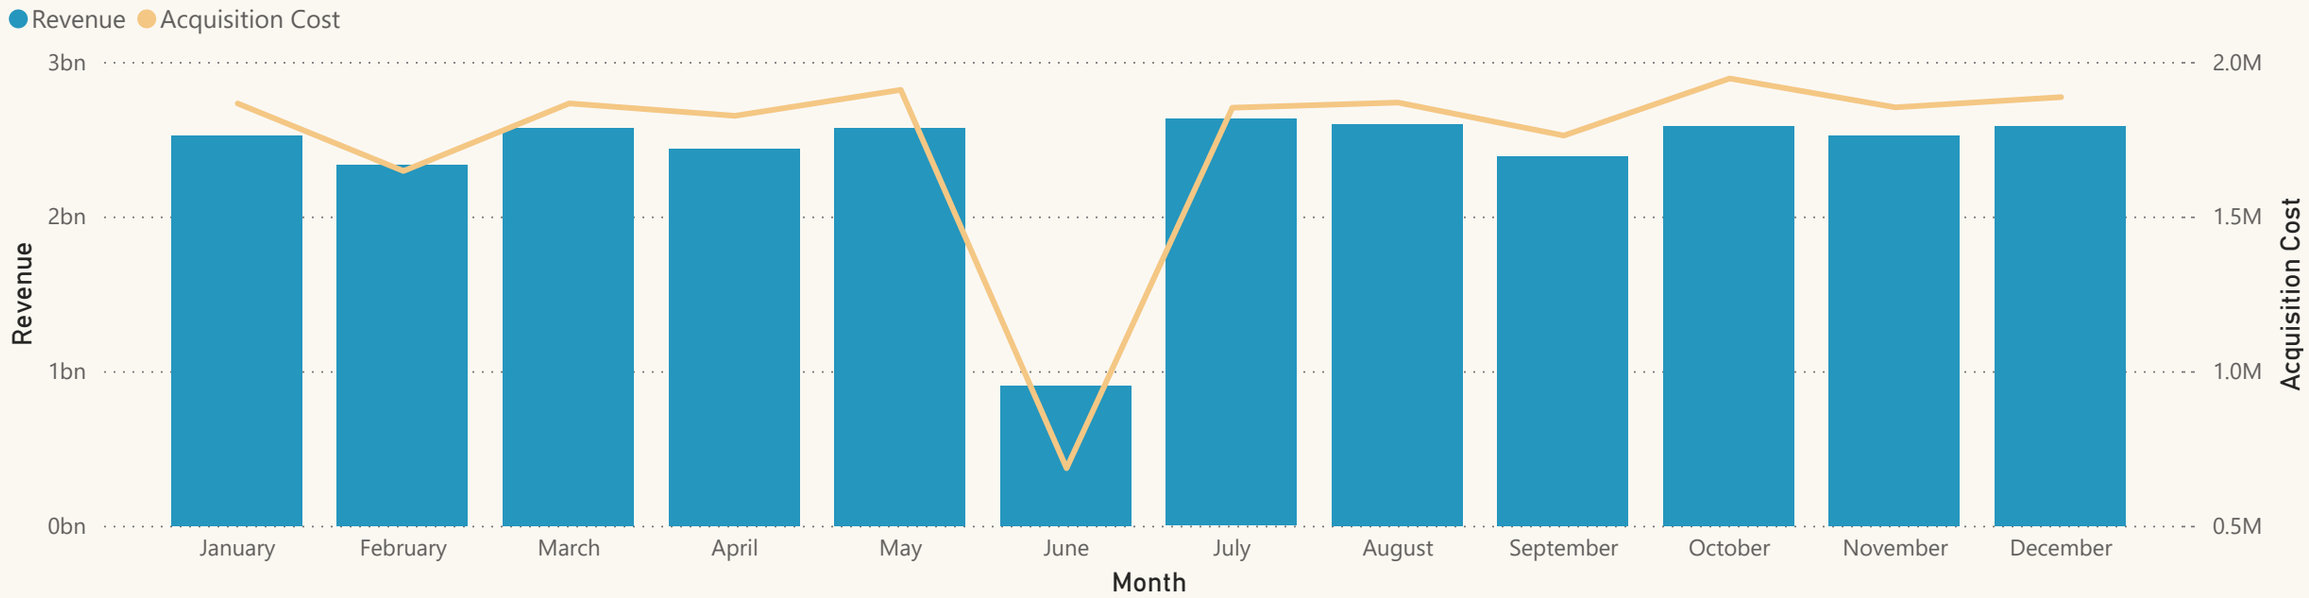
Revenue and Acquisition Cost by Month



Insights

- The drop off in revenue and acquisition cost in June suggests incomplete reporting rather than a business concern.
- Revenue consistently outperforms acquisition costs indicating high margins even when revenue dips as in February, April, and September.
- The gap between revenue and acquisition costs demonstrates Studio J's ability to drive high-volume sales with minimal spend, positioning the agency as a high-return partner for Nykaa Fashion's expansion. This is the case study for expanding Studio J's fashion clientele to hit their revenue goal.

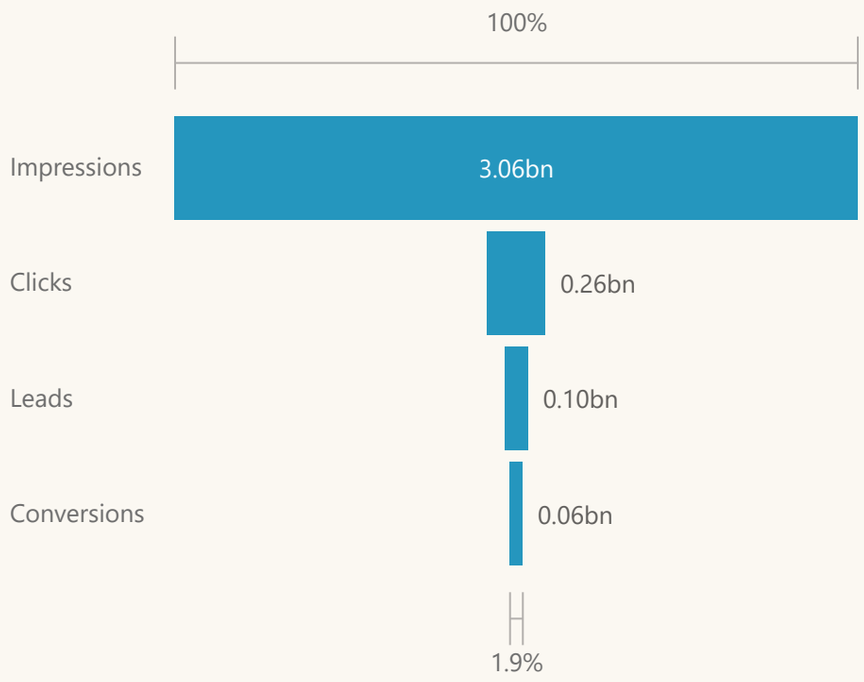
Impressions, Clicks, Leads and Conversions



Insight

- Click-to-Lead rate and Lead-to-Conversion rate are strong with 40.04% and 55.02% respectively. The recommendation is to focus on Impression-to-Click rate (CTR) by optimizing messaging and creative because out of 3 billion impressions, only a quarter of a billion people are clicking through to the landing page.

Conclusion

Current Performance

- Funnel Optimization: While campaigns generate significant reach (3 billion impressions), the 8.51% CTR is the metric to optimize in the funnel.
- Funnel Strengths: Once users enter the funnel, the process is efficient, with a 40.04% Click-to-Lead and 55.02% Lead-to-Conversion rate.
- Customer Segmentation: Working Women is the top-performing segment, providing the highest revenue with a balanced campaign workload.

Next Steps

- Creative Optimization: A/B test ad messaging and creative assets to improve the 8.51% CTR. A minor 1% increase would drive millions of additional high-intent users into the bottom of the funnel.
- Youth Segment Re-targeting: The Youth segment currently requires high campaign volume for lower revenue returns. Re-allocate budget from general awareness to high-ROI channels like Instagram for this specific demographic.
- Double Down on Email: With a staggering 140K% ROI, email is the most profitable channel. Scale email across all new fashion clientele to hit the $8M revenue goal by December 31, 2026.

Business Value

- Revenue Goal: By replicating the "Working Women" campaign pattern and optimizing the CTR in the top of the funnel , Studio J is positioned to exceed its 300% YoY revenue growth target.
- Efficiency: Maintaining high-margin gaps between revenue and acquisition costs ensures Studio J remains a high-return partner for future fashion clients.

- Customer Segments
    - Working Women: Urban professionals aged 24-40 with high disposable income, but limited time due to their careers. They prioritize convenience, quality, and "office-to-evening" transitional fashion. They have high brand loyalty and a high average order value. They are primarily found on Instagram and Facebook.
    - College Students: Budget-conscious Gen Z consumers aged 18-22 in urban areas. They are highly responsible to discounts and influencer collaborations but show lower brand loyalty compared to working women. They are primarily found on Instagram and TikTok.
    - Premium Shoppers: Individuals with high disposable income who target luxury labels and designer collaborations. This group is less sensitive to price and more focused on exclusivity They drive high margins, often purchasing limited edition Nykaa collections. They are primarily found on Instagram and TikTok.
    - Tier 2 City Customers: Emerging consumers in rapidly growing urban cities with a digital footprint. They often seek aspirational brands and rly heavily on customer reviews and unboxing social videos before making a purchase. Heavily uses Google Reviews, YouTube, and Facebook.
    - Youth: The "Alpha" and Gen Z demographic influenced by streamers and pop culture. This is a high engagement, high effort segment. They are often "wish list" shoppers due to not having disposable income. They are primarily found on TikTok, Instagram, and WhatsApp.
